BOWLING AFFAIRS.
 The delegates from the different clubs composing the Indianapolis Tenpin League met last night at the Independent Tavern, at the corner of Illinois and Ohio streets, to elect an organization for the coming winter. The Tenpin League is one of the branches of the Marion County Bowling League, which is which it will work in harmony. Most of the clubs comprising the two leagues will have teams in both organizations in order that a larger proportion of members may take part in championship games.

The first business of the meeting was the election of officers, and W. P. Smith was chosen president, John Fehrenbach vice president, M. C. Knox secretary and Charles O'Connor treasurer.
 It was decided to start the season, Oct. 1, and continue playing games each Wednesday night for twenty-eight weeks. Each club will play the other four games, but as yet the schedule has not been drafted. The league will start out with four new clubs, the Blue Labels, a branch of the old Oneidas, the Lenox, from the New York street, the Meridians, from Meridian street, and the Standards, from West Washington street. The Calumets, Columbus, Nationals and Stars remain the same as last year. All championship games will be played on the Independent Tavern, Marion Club, Oneida and Washington alleys. The latter are in a new building erected on East Washington street near Oriental.

The Independent Bowling League was permanently organized at a meeting held last night at the Washington alleys. The officers are: President, Charles Baron; vice president, E. E. Heller; secretary, C. A.
 Wiloughby; treasurer, Charles F. Keelling.
 Committees on the other four leagues, the appointed and reports will be made at a meeting to be held Friday evening at the same place. The league will consist of ten clubs.

It was upon a summer day,
 And died the Salts to beat,
 The players got upon the spot,
 To give the folks good cheer.

The routers sailed on the boards,
 To watch how things would go,
 And valiant warriors dished
 Three straight by Buffalo.

Now, Hartzell is a mighty man,
 And this I do aver,
 He stood up there with his staff,
 He soaked a three-bagger.

There followed him the brave Frank Motz,
 Who smote the ball so well,
 That although Hart played well his part,
 It seemed as if he were a fool.

But in the second came up Vaughn,
 And ake he smote for three;
 And on the plays of other days
 A score was got by he.

Now, Spies next got a base on balls,
 And he smote the ball so well,
 But lo! on Spies there were some flies,
 And Denzer got a choice.

Then Kautz and Geier singled each,
 And the routers in the sun,
 Saw Roger skate across the plate,
 And swipe another run.

Now gone was all the routers' hope,
 And great their miserie;
 And showed they were alive,
 A piteous sight to see.

But hup, hooray! and hup, hooray!
 There came an inning five;
 And Allen's men revivied again,
 And showed they were alive.

For fearless Hickey saved the day,
 When everything was blue,
 By batting out, so good and stout,
 And getting bases two.

And Heydon would have sacrificed,
 And the routers in the sun,
 But Denzer dropped the ball and stopped
 To pound it with his foot.

Then Newton singled, good and true,
 And Hoggie's suicide,
 And man after man every base,
 And scored a run beside.

A base on balls next Hartzell got,
 And Koger's day was done;
 Park avenue, East Ohio street, and over 10 and shade; will take part trade; balance cash time. Bargain if sold at once. Address N. T. care Journal.

For one more run the Paulines took,
 But fate had said they true;
 For none can do the Hoovers true—
 If they're inclined to play!

THE SECOND GAME.
 Another one of those attacks of malaise got into the systems of the home nine in the second game, and the result was that the Hoosiers and Millers will open their exhibition with the race, a tie, barring fractions. The Hoosiers were put in to pitch, presumably, though a great part of his time was spent in posing while the impatient spectators shouted, "Play ball!" He gave the outfielders a busy day
 of fourteen put-outs going to the credit of Hoggie, who, in the second, by getting the run, the support was well speckled with error. The Hoosiers were put in

 of fourteen put-outs going to the credit
 the run, the support was well speckled
 to pitch, presumably, though a great
